MR. G. P. CULLIPHER

To Mr. Cullipher, who has directed our steps and regulated our goings and comings for twelve years, we should like to extend our appreciation for his kind understanding and enthusiastic leadership. Leading us with keen determination, he has proved to be a friend who is interested in the lives of each student that has passed his way on the great road to education.

Throughout our lives we shall remember his keynote, "Remember whose sons and daughters you are", and may we live up to his expectations of us.

DEDICATION

MRS. VANN OLDHAM

To Mrs. Oldham, we extend our thanks for her unceasing patience and understanding. Concluding her twelfth year of teaching, she has given tirelessly of her efforts to further our education, insisting that we study with earnestness and always believe in the right.

We shall strive to take her valiant teachings with us in our future life, hoping that we will gratify her fondest wishes for our happiness and success.

CLASS HISTORY

Twelve years ago, a group of fifty-five children entered the first grades, taught by Mrs. Ollie Garner and Miss Grace Burke, respectively. This group, starting on the road to education, had a long way to go, but they were brave, and most of them climbed to the second grade.

On through the years they struggled until finally a new episode in their lives began. The changes in their school life were greater than any they had ever experienced before, for they had progressed into high school. They soon grew accustomed, however, to high school ways—the changing of classes and the different teachers in different rooms. Nevertheless, as all classes do, they began to diminish in number that year by losing Shirley Mashburn, Carl Foster Rives and Eileen Gates.

Starting their Sophomore year was easier than the first had been, for they were now beginning to feel that they were a real part of the school. They were drawn more and more into the excitement of the upperclassmen. Five boys and five girls were chosen to serve at the Junior-Senior banquet. Unfortunately, they lost two more members that year, Benny Gaines and Clyde Thomas Webster. The following June, two of the girls married, Jean Taylor and Joyce Oldham. They continued, however, to attend school.

Their Junior year was wonderful. An event to make them proud was the Junior class play. The Hobgobblin House proved to be one of the most delightful and most entertaining plays ever presented here at Goldston High School. A trip with the Seniors to Florida on March 26, 1952, continued their fun. The trip was exciting as well as educational. They saw many historical places as they traveled toward Florida down through Savannah, Georgia, on to St. Augustine and on to Davtona Beach, where they enjoyed two days of sunning and swimming, while friends at home were freezing in blustery March winds. Leaving Daytona Beach, they visited and toured Silver Springs, a famous spot of interest in Florida. Mrs. Vann Oldham, our English teacher and sponsor, Mrs. George Cullipher, our principal's wife, and Mrs. Corbett Gaines, a dear friend of the class, went with them as friends and chaperones. About a month later, they gave the Seniors a banquet, carrying out the rainbow theme in decorations. The speaker of the evening was the county superintendent, Mr. I. S. Waters, who gave them some good points on how to think. Later, they had square dancing, unusual fun, but something that nearly all of them could take part in—the girls even kicked off their high heels to dance barefoot. Graduation for their partners, the Seniors, came too soon. The Juniors regretted their leaving, and realized that they were left to fill their places and solemnly accepted their new responsibility. Nevertheless, for a last gay note, they sang their song written to a current hillbilly tune, "Lonely Little Robin", and had a last laugh together. The married members left the class during the summer and were not with them during the Big Year.

Yes, finally they became Seniors. They felt somewhat differently from previous years in the fact that it seemed as though they were being looked up to instead of their looking up to others. They experienced many happy events that year—the Christmas play, the Junior- Senior banquet, the Senior play and a trip to the Chowan River—these are a few of the many things they'll always remember.

Now, just as the old leaves fall to make room for the new ones, they leave Goldston High to make room for the present Juniors to be Seniors, and to leave a pathway for next year's first graders, who twelve years from tonight, take their places.

It's true; they finish their high school careers only to begin life anew. Some of them will continue their education; others will be finding jobs and putting into practice all the things they have learned. They will all be working at something, somewhere, but they may never again be all together, one happy class—more like a family—as they are tonight and as they have been for twelve years.

The class thanks the teachers of the Goldston School for their unfailing kindness and patience. It is with the feeling that the years spent here have been profitable, that they, guided by the hand of Providence, seek out their own particular tasks in life.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

CHATHAM COUNTY

CITY OF GOLDSTON

Goldston High School

The Class of 1953, having spent twelve years in Goldston school and having passed on to its reward, leaves behind this last will and testament. I, as legal adviser, drew up this document, and it is east-iron, unbreakable, and very, very legal. Be thankful for what you are about to receive.

ARTICLE I. TO THE DEPARTMENTS

- To the board of education we begueath our thanks for having such a good school for us to attend, and a hint for the future: more and better holidays.
- To the athletic department of our school we leave a record that deserves a bronze tablet or, Item 2. at least, honorable mention.
- Item 3. To the agriculture department of our school we leave a class that will be more attentive to direction and assignments.
- To the typing department of our school we bequeath our ability to keep pecking along. Item 4.
- To the entire school community we extend our sympathy and a reminder that the classes Item 5. that follow are not so bad when it comes to voices and fect.

ARTICLE II. TO THE FACULTY

- To Mr. Cullipher we leave our sincere appreciation for all the many kind deeds he has done Item 1. for us the twelve short years we've toiled together.
- To Mrs. Oldham we leave our thanks for her understanding and good sportsmanship. Item 2.
- Item 3. To Mr. Andrews we leave kind thoughts for his patience in helping us solve difficult problems.
- Item 4. To Mrs. Leonard we leave our gratefulness for her advice which we feel assured will be helpful in the future.

ARTICLE III. TO THE BOYS

- George Caviness leaves his good looks to Bobby Trogdon. Item 1.
- Item 2. Claude Cook wills his bus to anyone capable of driving it.
- Item 3. Johnny Gaines bequeaths his place as co-captain of the football team to John Palmer.
- Item 4. Raymond Elkins, Jr., bestows his intelligence upon J. T. Griffin.
- Item 5. Melvin Rives leaves his smallness to Charles Daniels.
- Item 6. Ernest Willett wills his typewriter to Jimmy Smith hoping that he can teach it the value
- Item 7. Billy Woody bequeaths his broad shoulders to Revnolds Mason.
- Jack Sipe surrenders his friendliness to Ronnie Gaincs. Item 8.
- Joe Thomas leaves his place as co-editor of The Goldstone to Elvette McIver.
- Item 10. Bucky Phillips wills his ability to play basketball to Wayne Jacobs.
- Item 11. Jerry Oldham leaves his good-natured disposition to Wesley Miller.

ARTICLE IV. TO THE GIRLS

- Item 1. Mary Ruth Allen wills her place as best all 'round to Peggy Harris.
- Item 2. Doris Burke leaves her courtesy to Inez Poe.
- Item 3. Shirley B. Hart bequeaths her neatness to Mildred Webster.
- Virginia Clark surrenders her place in the Beta Club to Shelby Jean Elkins. Inez Fields wills her place as office girl to Shelby Wicker. Item 4.
- Item 5.
- Item 6. Betty Johnson turns over her cheerleading suit to Betty Jean Wicker.
- Maxine M. Oldham bestows her place as Miss Goldston High upon Sylvia Fields. Item 7.
- Item 8. Shirley W. Rives bequeaths her beauty to Betty Lou Caudle.
- Item 9. Shirley Jeffries gives up the ticket box to Lataine Oldham.
- Item 10. Margaret Sharpe leaves her curly hair to Janice Graham.
- Item 11. Elva Oldham wills her charming smile to Ruby Dowdy.

Written, witnessed, signed, sealed, and delivered the 5th day of January, anno domini one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

I have in my hand a magic spyglass. With this spyglass I can look into the future. I am now adjusting it to look into the future twelve years from now. It is 1965, and I shall search out my classmates of 1953.

Betty Johnson is working as a comedian with the Deep River Playboys.

Maxine Oldham has settled down with Norman for a happy married life.

Joe Thomas is flying his own jet plane.

Margaret Sharpe, an admiral in the U. S. Waves, is now enjoying the romance of life on the high seas.

Jack Sipe is working as a sailor in the U. S. Navy.

Claude Cook is busy making a living for his wife and family.

Jerry Oldham is running his father's grocery store in Gulf.

Shirley Wilson is living with her husband, Billy Rives, in a home of their own, babysitting.

Virginia Clark is working as a secretary in one of Goldston's large factories.

Inez Fields is living in a modern home in Durham and driving a yellow convertible.

Shirley Brafford is living in Washington driving a Cadillae convertible.

Johnny Gaines, with the help of his blonde-headed private secretary, is a successful business manager.

Bucky Phillips is eoaching his football team in their third year of straight victories.

Melvin Rives is the star pitcher and manager of his baseball team, "The Jumping Jaeks."

Elva Oldham is working as a nurse in Goldston's new modern hospital.

Mary Ruth Allen is working with the American Red Cross.

Doris Burke is living in Florida enjoying the sunshine with her husband, Sonny.

Shirley Jeffries is trying to make a living and follow Leonard everywhere he goes.

Billy Woody is making headlines by winning the Indianapolis Speedway race.

Raymond Elkins, a dignified preacher is trying to teach his young wife religion.

George Caviness is employed by a large contracting company for building houses.

And last, but not least, I see Ernest Willet, a wild animal trainer, exploring Africa, hunting for a lion that doesn't bite.

FAREWELL

The time has come for us to part—When we must bid you fond adieu—No matter where we wish to roam Our thoughts will ever be of you.

Our school days all have ended, And we have left you far and near, We will faithfully remember The happy times we have spent here.

For twelve short years we've been good pals. Our way in life we now must find, For there must be a job for us, Although we leave you all behind.

And, if we are leaving you now To give the Junior class our place, We know we'll have to buckle down With all our future life to face.

After twelve years we, at last, come To the night of graduation, But we'll never forget Goldston High, Where we got our education.

Thus, as our school days come to end, The time, we feel, has come to tell The dear old friends of Goldston High "Farewell to you, dear ones, farewell!"

CLASS SONG

As we leave our Alma Mater That we love so dear, We'll cherish it in fondest memory Throughout our life-long years. For twelve long years we've strived for Achievements we've now won. And, as we face the road of life, We find we've just begun. Years we've spent in work and play Have brought us happiness; And, as we leave, we hope you can say We've each one done our best. Teachers, friends, and classmates, Our thanks we'd like to stress. So, as we leave the place we love, We hail to G. H. S.

JUNIOR CLASS SONG

Seniors, we come to say adieu.
Our best wishes shall go with you.
Through all the sadness and the tears,
We have enjoyed you all these years.
School friends of Goldston, dear old friends,
Our love for you will never wane.

And as we take your place next year,
The sound of voices will be near,
Telling of kindness you have shown
O'er all the years that now have gone.
School friends of Goldston, dear old friends,
Our love for you will never wane.

At last we know it is the time
When you must leave us all behind,
And now we'll say our last adieu
And always love and honor you.
School friends of Goldston, dear old friends,
Our love for you will never wane.
